Total Computer Care

Need re-manufactured toner and ink

February 2013

We're getting great feedback on our brand new website just for teachers, librarians and school administrators. There, we feature the entire suite of VariQuest® products. So visit NMSchoolTools.com and don't forget to bookmark our videos, offers, demos, and links to our manufacturers for quick reference.

We also post links to websites of interest to teachers, like the amazing Edutopia.org. We've included a link to an Edutopia story out of our very own Albuquerque, below, because we love that site so much. Then of course there is DonorsChoose.org where teachers can post their project needs and anyone can contribute to the project of their choice.

As the second half of Title I funding is released you may want to consider purchasing our VariQuest suite of visual learning tools that over 300 New Mexico schools use every day to impact student achievement, and enhance professional development. You may also qualify for grant money to purchase supplies and machines. Find out more, here.

Standardized testing is on the horizon. Do you have your posters made for rules, instructions and encouragement? The VariQuest Poster Maker is ideal for creating large format signage.

Until I see you again,
Margaret

Projects and Partnerships Build a Stronger Future

Suzie Boss discovers how schools are partnering with business to build a stronger future for students in Albuquerque.

"On a visit to the Architecture, Construction, and Engineering Leadership High School in the Old Town area of Albuquerque, New Mexico, you might be struck at first by what this unique public charter school lacks. There are no classes in the traditional sense. No bell schedule. No cafeteria. No hallways – just a big, open space in an industrial building that once housed a call center. On the perimeter are eight classrooms that are assigned to projects, not teachers."
